

OF METRO BATON ROUGE, INC.

Recognizing the continuous need for help with the hurricane Katrina relief effort in the Baton Rouge Community, 100 Black Men of Metro Baton Rouge has partnered with the LeBron James Foundation and Louisiana Future to bring relief to some of the youth and families affected.

The partnership has scheduled a relief effort for 10 AM Monday September 12, 2005 at the Port Allen Community Center, 749 North Jefferson Street, Port Allen, Louisiana. NBA All Star, LeBron James' representatives will be visiting and bringing a 28 foot trailer filled with basic supplies, snacks, men clothing and other items. In addition, the 100 Black Men of Metro Baton Rouge and Louisiana Futures will be present to help distribute the goods to needy families in the West Baton Community. They will also be talking to the youth about opportunities to participate in their various programs/activities, building on the theme of "what they see is what they become."

This area was identified as an area which is still in need of attention as it attempts to address the needs of the numerous persons who are currently displaced in that area.
